A Biblical Worldview matters....

Teaching a Biblical Worldview
By Judy Crawford

Spontaneous applause erupted in my classroom this morning. We were doing our usual routine of taking prayer requests and writing them on our board. Something was different. A request we had been praying for, for weeks now, had finally happened. God had answered the prayer. But that was not the only prayer. A surgery went well, a job was found, an outrageous water bill was lowered, all answers to prayer from a God, our God, who sees. And in that moment, my students saw it too, and they couldn't help but clap and cheer. God is at work all around us, everywhere, all the time. When we pray, the miraculous can happen. God sees us! The question is, do we see Him? Teaching a Biblical worldview is just that. It is giving our students eyes to see God at work all around us, in, and through us. It is helping them navigate life through that Biblical lens in all subjects and areas of life. In Jesus Christ we find hope, purpose, meaning, and a love beyond comprehension. I want my students to know and experience all of that and see Him! At KCA, our desire is that our students know Jesus Christ, find their purpose in life through Him, and then pursue that purpose with passion. We need that in our world today, don't we? We need godly men and women living their lives with purpose and meaning, making a difference in the world for good. We are raising the next generation, the hope for tomorrow. We all have a part in it. Let's work together to raise our children to know and love God, to see Him at work all around us, and then to join Him in that work. He sees us. A Biblical worldview helps us see Him.

Attribute of God - Preserver

Psalm 36:6

Your righteousness is like the highest mountains, your justice like the great deep. You, LORD, preserve both people and animals.

Character of God Hope

Jeremiah 29:11

For I know the plans I have for you, says the LORD, plans for welfare and not for evil, to give you a future and a hope. Students

Self-discipline

1 Corinthians 9:24-25

Do you not know that in a race all the runners compete, but only one receives the prize? So run that you may obtain it. Every athlete exercises self-control in all things. They do it to receive a perishable wreath, but we an imperishable. KCA

Healing

Hosea 14:4

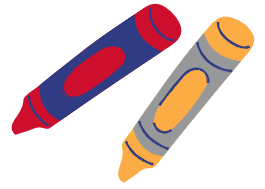

I will heal their waywardness;
I will love them freely, for my anger has turned from them.
